Army Radar Pulse Contacts Moon in New Jersey Tests

Outer Space Spanned in 2½ Seconds Jan. 10 by Signal Corps Group

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—The Army today claimed the world's first scientific contact with the moon in a Jules Vern feat which spanned 238,000 miles of outer space by radar in 2½ seconds.

Government astronomers said the achievement might lead to the answer of the age-old question whether any form of life exists on the moon.

Another possibility was that it might usher in radio control for super-range jet or rocket projectiles which coluld be kept hovering ominously above the earth in the stratosphere.

The war department reported that the results of the experiment promise "valuable peacetime as well as wartime applications.' Far-roving space ships were listed as one of the "less likely" applications.

The first radar contact with the moon was made Jan. 10, it was disclosed, and the feat has been successfully repeated several times since.

Aussies Claim Priority

(At Los Angeles, W. E. Osborne, former Australian army major, told newsmen last night that Australian scientists made radar contact with the moon four years ago.

("Working with Dr. J. H. Piddington, a scientist in the radiophysics laboratory at the University of Sidney, we contacted the moon several times in October or November, 1941," said Osborne, who is doing secret research work for the American government here).

The experiment has been carried out by Signal Corps scientists, working at the Evans signal laboratory at Belmar on the New Jersey coastline. The Army released the first details of it last night.

Specially designed equipment used in the test shot radar pulses out into space at the speed of light—186,000 miles per s[illegible]—and other apparatus picked up the returning echo.

Effects Uncertain

The war department frankly acknowledged that it was impossible at this stage to forecast what the success of the experiment would make possible.

Moj. Gen. Harry C. Ingles, Signal Corps chief, said the immediate significance was that scientists know now for the first time with certainty that a very high frequency radio wave from the earth can penetrate the electrically charged ionosphere which envelops both earth and stratosphere. The multi-layered inosphere starts about 39 miles above the earth's surface and extends to an altitude of approximately 250 miles higher.

Looking to the future, the war department said it may be possible with the aid of radar data to construct detailed topographical maps of distant planets, and also to determine the composition and atmospheric characteristics of these celestial bodies.

May Contact Mars

Government astronomers declared achievement of radar contact with the moon makes it feasible to probe for the secrets of Mars—where there may be life—by the same method.

The red planet's thin atmosphere will admit passage of signals if radar experts can step them up to span the 35,000,000

Collins Pushes Bonus Plan for State Vets

Senator Dennis J. Collins has returned to DeKalb after spending the week in Springfield with the special committee appointed to investigate the soldier bonus plan, of which he is chairman. The committee has conducted an extensive study of bonus laws of other states for both World War I and II, the amounts paid, the method of providing the funds and those eligible to receive the bonuses.

During the week delegations and representatives of several veterans organizations appeared before the committee, all of whom were in favor of paying a bonus to the veterans of the last World War. The committee after completing its investigation will file a report with Governor Dwight Green.

Senator Collins stated today that a special session of the legislature will be necessary to be called at an early date to consider the proposed bonus bill, adding that the only method of providing funds for such payment would be through the passing of a bond issue, which would be submitted to the voters of Illinois at the fall election.

Red Hot Clue

Roger B. Stiles, of Rockford, Storekeeper second class and a naval veteran debarked at Seattle Oct. 18, was ordered to San Antonio, Tex., and shipped his seabag loaded with clothing and souvenirs there by mail.

It hadn't arrived in San Antonio by the time he was shifted to Great Lakes, and he left word for it to be forwarded. He was discharged at Great Lakes Oct. 27, still without his seabag.

He learned later the bag had been forwarded from San Antonio to Cuero, Tex., but there he lost the trail. Now, however — more than three months after he lost it—he's received a red hot clue: a grocery chain at Toledo, Ohio, wrote that it had found a seabag bearing his name.

It was found in a carload of pickled peppers unloaded at the company's Toledo warehouse.

LaGrange Cabbie Gets 45 Days for Alimony Slip-ups

Louis Corder, LaGrange cab driver, was sentenced to the Lee county jail for a period of 45 days when he appeared before Judge George C. Dixon in the Lee county circuit court today on a citation charging him with contempt of court. Corder was shown to have been delinquent in the sum of $285 for the support of a child, at a rate of $15 per week since his former wife, Dorothy Corder, obtained a decree for divorce on Sept. 12, 1945.

Corder, who was represented by Attorney John Buckley, testified that he had remarried last December, and admitted having failed to abide by the order of the court at the time of the divorce action, when he was notified to keep an accurate account of his support payments, receipts and disbursements. Attorney Gerald Jones represented Mrs. Corder in the contempt action.

Physical disability, Corder claimed, prevented him from holding full time employment which reduced his earning capacity. Before pronouncing sentence, Judge Dixon stated that the court intended that support provisions would be enforced and further that the court would not become a collection agency for back accounts.

Faces Second Charge

"The children involved in these cases suffer more than the parties involved." Judge Dixon stated, then added that the court would protect all children who come under the provisions of the support rulings.

Corder faced a second charge in court today, that being an indictment returned by the January grand jury, charging him with child abandonment. His counsel had entered a plea of guilty to the indictment and had filed a motion for probation, on which the hearing was continued until March 8th.

Melvina Drury, represented by Attorney E. S. Wadsworth, charged cruelty in her divorce action against John W. Drury and was granted a decree and permitted to resume her maiden name, Melvina Hayes.

Hazel W. Ferrino charged intoxication and cruelty in her complaint filed by Attorney Wadsworth against Francis J. Ferrino of Sterling. The couple were married in Clinton, Iowa, March 13, 1940, and in her testimony she stated that on one occasion her husband threatened her life with a shotgun. She was granted a de-

Shock

Portland, Ore.— (AP)— A housewife, who hadn't seen butter in weeks, was desperately hunting a substitute.

She asked a little neighborhood store for her favorite margarine.

"Haven't any".

She named another brand, and another. "No-no-no".

"I don't know what I'm going to do", she told the grocer sadly.

"Well", replied the grocer, "I could let you have half a pound of butter".

They almost had to carry her home.

Packinghouses to Begin Operations Under U. S. Agents

AFL Workers Ordered to Resume Work; CIO's Course Uncertain

BULLETIN

Chicago, Jan. 25 — (AP) — Lewis J. Clark, CIO Packinghouse Workers Union president, announced the union's national wage policy committee voted "unanimously" today not to return to work when the government seizes struck packing plants at 12:01 a. m. tomorrow.

(By The Associated Press)

The government will operate the nation's billion dollar meat industry beginning at 12:01 a. m. tomorrow in an emergency move to restore meat to the nation's tables.

But, as final arrangements for the takeover ordered by President Truman were being completed, there was no assurance that the CIO packinghouse workers, comprising 75 per cent of the 250,000 out in the strikebound industry, would return to work.

AFL leaders last night ordered their 55,000 striking members to call off the walkout, stating the union "can not and must not distrust" Truman.

CIO leaders, however, were noncommittal of the AFL action and said their decision would be announced only after two meetings today—one of 200 officers of union locals and one of rank and file members.

The seizure will place the agriculture department in direct charge of 134 plants, owned by 19 packing companies and all closed since a walkout 10 days ago over wage demands.

Gayle G. Armstrong, a New Mexico rancher and deputy administrator of the agriculture department's production and marketing administration, will operate the industry.

"Temporary Truce"

The AFL union declared what it termed "a temporary truce" which would last "at least until we know what the fact-finding commission (now holding public hearings in Chicago) will recommend".

Federal seizure is the second and largest in administration attempts to resolve post-war strikes, which at present involve 1,710,000 workers. The Navy still is operating 33 of the 53 oil plants and refineries it took over Oct. 4 in a

Believe Capt. Kelly in Manila Cemetery

Manila, Jan. 25—(AP)—A body re-buried recently in a Manila cemetery was tentatively identified by Western Pacific army headquarters today as that of Capt. Colin Kelly, America's first widely publicized air hero of World War II.

Headquarters said positive identification hinges on a check of dental work and a comparison of data, including a crudely-drawn map marking the spot of first interment at Fort Stotzenberg, long since leveled by Japanese bombs.

Officers said a Filipino told them that in December, 1941, he saw the sergeant of a field crash truck point to one of two bodies recovered in the crash of a bomber and say: "Why that's Captain Kelly".

Kelly first was reported to have died Dec. 10, 1941, in diving on the Japanese battleship, Haruna, in Lingayen Gulf—for which he posthumously was awarded the Congressional Medal.

Subsequently, however, it was determined that he flew his flak-riddled plane—one of the 19th bombardment group — back to within four miles of Clark Field after ordering the crew to bail out. One crew member parachuted, but another—unidentified here—chose to remain with Kelly and died when the plane crashed.

Poll Reveals Some U. S. Soldiers Swallowed Much Nazi Propaganda

Wiesbaden, Germany, Jan. 25—(AP)—Nineteen per cent of the 1,700 men questioned last fall in a U. S. Army poll of American troops stationed in Germany believe the Germans had some justification for starting the war.

The poll, said to represent a cross-section of the U. S. troops in Germany, was not officially released for publication, but was made available by a thoroughly authoritative source.

(In Washington a war department spokesman said that polls had been taken to ascertain the degree to which enemy propaganda had been absorbed, so that counter measures could be effected.)

Authorities said the poll indicated an amazing lack of knowledge of the causes of war and tended to show that in some cases U. S. soldiers had swallowed large doses of propaganda of the type once served up by Joseph Goebbels.

The poll also showed:

Fifty-one per cent said they believed Hitler did the reich a lot of good before 1939.

Eighty per cent favored occupation of Germany for 10 years.

Seventy-one per cent said the U. S. military government was not tough enough with nazis: 62 per cent said it was not tough enough with ordinary Germans.

believed the Germans had "good

Twenty-two percent said they reasons" for the persecution of Jews.

Thirty per cent said they liked the Germans better than the English or French.

Gen. Short Claims He Was Misquoted

Washington, Jan. 25 — (AP) — Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short protested today at the Pearl Harbor committee hearing that Rep. Murphy (D-Pa) was "misquoting" him.

A brief flareup between the two came after Murphy asserted Short had testified at previous inquiries that he did not know the Japanese consulate at Honolulu was burning its papers before the Japanese attacked Dec. 7, 1941. Short, army commander in Hawaii then, had just testified that his intelligence officer, Col. George W. Bicknell informed him on Dec. 6 of the consulate's action.

Murphy contended that at three previous hearings Short had said he did not know about the destruction of the papers.

Demanding the direct quotations of his former testimony, Short said:

"I think you are misquoting me again".

"I'll produce the quotations", Murphy retorted. "I want to be eminently fair to you, but I want the facts'.

Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) threatened today to walk out on the Pearl Harbor investigation if its hearings continue beyond the Febr. 15 deadline.

Keefe told a reporter he already has notified other mebers of the Senate-House committee that he will not attend sessions after that date, which congress has fixed for a report on the inquiry.

"I've got other work to do", Keefe declared. "I can't go on here forever".

U. S. Agreement to Lick Hitler First Disclosed by Life

New York, Jan. 25—(AP)—Life magazine says that former Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons in a secret speech on April 23, 1942 that the British plan that Germany be defeated before the Japanese "was earnestly and spontaneously shared by the government and dominant forces in the U. S."

The British conception, the magazine's copyrighted article quotes Churchill as saying, was "vehemently opposed by the powerful isolationist faction" in America.

Churchill then read a portion of a message which he said he just had received from President Roosevelt saying:

Read FDR's Letter

"I believe that this move will be very disheartening to Hitler and may well be the wedge by which his downfall will be accomplished. I am heartened at the prospect and you can be sure that our army will approach the matter with great enthusiasm and vigor.

"While our mutual difficulties are many I am frank to say that I feel better about the war than at any time in the past two years".

The magazine also quoted Mr. Churchill as saying that "I have always hoped for the entry of the United States (in the war) x x x

Fire Protection in Dixon Nil, Retired Army Officer Writes

Col. John E. Earle Tells City's Needs in Letter to The Telegraph

(Editor's Note—The following communication submitted for the People's Column by John E. Earle, Colonel United States Army, retired, is felt to have sufficient timely merit to warrant its being handled as a news story. During his service Col. Earle was fire marshal at the port of embarkation at Charleston, S. C.; was director of safety at the ordnance plant at Camden, Ark., and an officer at the New York fire college).

By JOHN E. EARLE
Colonel U. S. A., Retired

The fire in the Borden Company plant Monday night brings very vividly into evidence a condition which should make every citizen of Dixon hang his head in shame and strike fear into the heart of every property-owner and business man.

This fire demonstrated what has been clear to everyone who knows anything about fire prevention and fire protection, namely, that Dixon has no fire department and its fire protection is nil. This situation is reflected in the insurance rate classifications, which place Dixon in the lowest class, with the highest insurance cost of cities in Illinois.

Don't blame the fire chief. He is employed to do a job and denied the means to accomplish it. The writer has seen him in action and he knows his business. I have inspected with him the apparatus that the city has. It is inadequate and undermanned.

To Dixon's disgrace, Sterling, Rockford and Rock Falls had to send men and apparatus Monday night, to put out a fire that need not have assumed serious proportions if Dixon had had an adequate fire department to go into action in the first place.

Fire's Locale No Factor

The fact that the Borden Company factory was outside of the city limits doesn't enter into the picture, for it is only an example. The same thing could happen, and has happened, in the city, and will occur again unless the citizens wake up and provide protection for their own lives and property.

Sterling and Rock Falls responded to the call for assistance Monday night with three pieces of apparatus and 18 men. Rockford sent one pump and eight men. Dixon furnished the chief and two men and one pump which could not be used because there were no men to operate it. Fire ap-

Army Tests New Jet Long Range Fighter

Dayton, O., Jan. 25.—(AP)—The Army Air Corps' newest long-range jet fighter plane, the XP-81, now is being flight-tested, air technical service command headquarters at Wright Field announced today.

The metal monoplane has a gas turbine engine in front and a jet engine in the rear and can operate on either engine—or both. Specific figures were not announced, but ATSC officers said the new plane "can travel faster than any conventional fighter yet designed."

ATSC also unveiled these details on the XP-81:

Wing span—50 feet, six inches; fuselage length, 44 feet, eight inches; cockpit well forward of the wing; two large air scoops in the plane's midsection to provide air for operating the jet engine.

Machinist Sets Child Free as Doctors Fail

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Thirteen-year-old Johnny Wills tried a racer bearing—made of the hardest cast steel—on his right index finger. Then he couldn't get it off.

Ten hospital physicians and internes failed in removal efforts. So did the hospital's engineer.

"I broke their four biggest saw blades," said Johnny.

Firemen took over—but their files couldn't dent the ring.

Finally, a machinist, using a high speed electric drill and grinder, cut it loose.

"I didn't think they'd ever get it off," Johnny related. "I thought they'd have to cut my finger off."

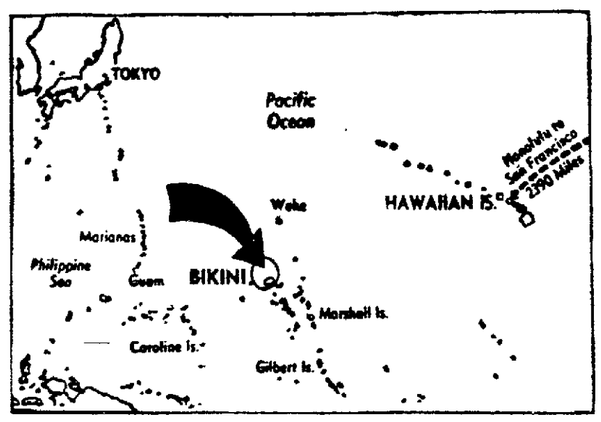

Old Chicago School Hit by $55,000 Blaze

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney today estimated damage at more than $55,000 in the blaze that razed the school of St. Francis of Assisi church, one of the oldest parishes in the Archdiocese of Chicago.

The fire last night started in a $15,000 gymnasium which was completed only one week ago. The building itself was erected in 1881.

Frenchman Tells of Bestial Murders in Nazi Death Camp

Describes Treatment of 97 U. S., Russian and Dutch Prisoners

Nuernberg, Jan. 25—(AP)—Fifty Russian officers and political commissars were executed as a special treat for Gestapo Chieftain Heinrich Himmler at Mauthausen murder camp in September, 1944, and 47 American and Dutch fliers were tortured and stoned to death the same month, a former inmate testified today before the international military tribunal.

The witness, Maurice Lampe, a Frenchman, telling a particularly graphic story of the beatings and stonings of the fliers, said the Americans and Dutchmen arrived at the camp the morning of Sept. 6.

Loaded With Stones

Barefooted and dressed only in their underwear, the fliers were taken before the SS commandant and told they were condemned to death for trying to escape.

When one of the American officers requested the privilege of dying "like a soldier" he was beaten and then the entire group was led, still barefooted, to the bottom of a stone quarry.

"Each man was then loaded

White House Funds Return to Treasury

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—President Truman found himself minus exactly $1,650,000 today.

That was the money he had for the much-discussed addition to the White House, which would be complete with the theatre boasting a disappearing stage, a cafeteria, more office space, plus a lot of other improvements.

Excavations already have started for the addition, which has kicked up a local fuss among architecturally-minded groups who contend it will mar the classic appearance of the executive mansion.

Truman's predicament is that the $1,650,000 voted by congress a year ago for the work was ordered turned back to the treasury yesterday by the house.

Only a short time earlier the president at his press confcrence had dismissed criticism of the projected addition as a tempest in a teapot. Truman has been all for the new construction.

Meanwhile, there was no comment from the White House on the house action. Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, reporting this, told a news conference he thought the president had discussed the matter sufficiently yesterday.

Navy Pegs Cost of Atomic Bomb Test Above Half Billion

Washington, Jan. 24—(AP)—The test of the A-bomb versus the modern warship stacked up today as a proposition that will cost close to a half billion dollars, if not more.

The exact amount was impossible to calculate, but Navy figures supplied an indication of what would be involved in the forthcoming atomic experiment in the Pacific.

This is what they show:

It cost $230,000 alone for the hulls and engines of the 47 U. S. combat units assigned to the guinea pig fleet.

It cost more than $100,000,000 more for the Navy transports which make up about half of the 47 non-combat types which also will be targets.

Value Greater Than Cost

Moreover, Navy men have estimated unofficially that the operating expenses involved in staging the experiment next spring will run approximataely $100,000,000. The pay of personnel and cost of supplies would boost that total.

No estimates are available on the one German and two Japanese warships that will be used in the test, but all are of the most costly types.

The figures do not take into account subsequent expenditures for modernizatioon, which in the

"Blue Baby" on Way Home From Hospital

Baltimore, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Martin T. Johnson, eleven-year-old "blue baby" from Watseka, Ill., was on his way home from Johns Hopkins hospital today and his parents were instructed to bring him back in a year for a check-up.

By that time, doctors at the hospital think, a good artery which is to be sewn to his defective one will be stronger.

A malformation of the heart prevents the blood of "blue babies" from getting sufficient oxygen. "Blue" lips and fingernails result.

The topic: Advisability of hiring a nightwatchman for the downtown streets.

Triple Sale of Oranges, Tag Day to Aid Polio Fund Drive in City

A novel plan of raising funds for the polio fund in Dixon, for which a tag day will be held Saturday when Girl Scouts will sell the tags, has been made possible through the generosity of Louis Berretini of the Dixon Fruit Co., who has donated $100 worth of oranges to the committee in charge of the drive for funds to be placed in several places of business, which have re-purchased the boxes of oranges from the committee.

Girl Scouts will sell the oranges to the public at a minimum price of ten cents each at the places of business which have purchased the cases of fruit, making a triple sale in which transaction the profit has been turned over to the polio fund. In addition to the sale of tags, the Girl Scouts will sell oranges at the following places of business which have purchased cases of fruit:

City National bank, Dixon National bank, Eichler Bros., Kline's department store, Erzinger shoe store, Woolworth's, A. L. Geisenheimer Co., Boynton Richards Co., Dixon Appliance store, United Cigar store, Twain's jewelry store.

John L. Lewis Will Get Place on Policy Making Committee Soon

Miami, Fla., Jan. 25—(AP) — AFL President William Green today announced the reaffiliation of John L. Lewis and his 500,000 United Mine Workers with the American Federation of Labor.

Lewis immediately was elected to the vacancy on the executive council created by the withdrawal of Harvey W. Brown, president of the Machinists, whose 700,000 dropped out of the federation in October, 1943.

Green said Lewis would attend next week's sessions of the council, expected to be merely routine.

Green said the return of the miners was "significant" because of the emphasis "upon the need for unity and solidarity".

"I interpret this step taken by the mine workers as evidence of their determination to wipe out the division of labor and to establish unity", Green told a news conference.

Sees More for Unity

"It might be interpreted as a move designed to place the house of labor in order. It will have a profound effect upon the expansion and development of a united labor movement".

Lewis has been flirting with the federation since he left the CIO in 1942. Once he paid his per capita tax for return to the AFL, but did not like the terms the executive council imposed on him and asked for return of the check for approximately $48,000.

This time, however, the council was ready to comply with Lewis' chief condition—a seat on the policy-making 15-man executive council.

Lewis planned to be in Miami Sunday or Monday, his associates disclosed. The formal return of his 500,000 miners into the AFL is expected to take place shortly after his arrival.

Bitterness Disappears

Lewis and Green worked in obvious harmony during November labor-management conference in Washington, and all signs of past bitterness had apparently disappeared.

Lewis' chief advocate on the council, according to those close to the board's deliberations, was William L. Hutcheson, boss of the carpenters, with whom Lewis swapped punches at the fateful 1935 convention in Atlantic City. At that conclave, Lewis fought with the old craft line unionists in the AFL for the organization of mass production workers. The CIO grew out of that fight.

Lewis' reaffiliation with the AFL was opposed before the executive council yesterday by John Marchiando, head of the Progressive Miners' union which has 35,000 members.

Modern William Tell Used Wife as Target

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 25 — (AP)—Elliott C. Beardsley, Monroe farmer, testified in Superior court yesterday that on an occasion when they both were "feeling pretty good", he demonstrated his skill with a rifle by "plunking" a tin can balanced on top of his wife's head.

Beardsley described the William Tell incident yesterday while defending a divorce suit which charges him with intolerable cruelty and habitual intemperance.

Identifying himself as a former cowboy, Beardsley said he was careful not to hit his wife, and remarked that "if I wanted to shoot her, I could have shot her".

Beardsley told the court he permitted his wife to shoot the can from the top of his head.

The Beardsleys, married in 1928, separated four years ago. They have five children.

Judge James E. Murphy reserved his decision.

RAF on "Strike" Over Demobilization Policy

Dinner Guest

On Friday evening a large number of friends and relatives gathered at the Albert Taylor home for a dinner with Sgt. Harlan Rosenkrans as the guest of honor. At approximately 6:30 o'clock a most delicious chicken dinner with all the trimmings was served, and everyone did ample justice to all the goodies on the food laden table. The remainder of the evening was spent in visiting and all enjoyed hearing Harlan tell about many of his interesting experiences overseas. He served in the final battles, just before Germany capitulated, and then became part of the army of occupation. He has enoyed his furlough of 30 days with his family and friends, and leaves Friday, Jan. 25 for Camp Polk, La., for reassignment. The best wishes of all were extended to him and all expressed their sincere hope that he will be home before too long.

Those present for the dinner were: Miss Mary Lee Bruce of Earlville, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rosenkrans and sons Stanley and Harlan, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rogers and sons Eldred, Howard and Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sanford and son Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Politsch and daughter Carol Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schuetz and daughter Rebecca, Mr. and Mrs. John Fife, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Politsch, and Mr. Albert Taylor and daughter Fern and son Earl, all of Paw Paw.

W. S. C. S.

The members of Women's Society of Christian Service met at the Bertha Goble—Viola Rosette home on Wednesday afternoon for their regular monthly meeting. The usual business meeting was held with Mrs. Louise Valentine having charge of the devotionals. Mrs. Raymond Schoenholz introduced the new book, "Moving Times," which is the story about home missions in the church. It dealt with the problems facing the missionaries and their work before the war, throughout the war years and in the future. It brought out the startling fact that half of the people in the world live without apparent relations to the church. In order to bring out how fast things are moving, it was pointed out that any person 80 years of age can remember the first reapers and when we think how fast the world has improved in the way of making our work easier in so short a time it is almost unbelievable. The hostesses for the day were Mrs. Walter Stevens, Mrs. Charles Tessman, Mrs. Henry Barker, Mrs. Oakley Durr and Mrs. Gertie Smith and they served a dainty luncheon. Their next meeting will be held at the parsonage and all are urged to attend.

Shower Party

Mr. and Mrs. Murl Zuber were the guests of honor at a party in the form of a shower held at the Harold Hoelzer home Friday evening. The evening was spent playing progressive 500 with Mrs. Jack Hanners winning high honors for the ladies and Mrs. Wayne Niebergall received the consolation prize. For the men, Jack Haners tallied with high score and Murl Zuber finished with the low score. Delicious refreshments were then served with everyone making the goodies put before them soon disappear The group then presented the honored guests with a purse of money which is to be used to purchase something for their new home. The house they bought recently and moved into only a short time ago, was formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ferguson. It was a delightful evening for all, and the hope that they will like their new home was expressed by all in parting.

Those attending this shower party were Mr. and Mrs. Murl Zuber and daughter Donna Rae, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Haners, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Niebergall, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Zuber, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dilbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Suddeth and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Zuber and son Earl and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoelzer and family, of Paw Paw.

O. E. S. Initiation

The Order of Eastern Star held their annual initiation meeting at their lodge rooms on Friday evening with about 32 members and especially invited guests in attendance. After the initiation ceremony, a short program was presented. Several entertaining games and contests were enjoyed with everyone taking part in the fun, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nangle were called upon to render several very lovely musical selections which are always greatly enjoyed by all. It was during this social hour, that the refreshment committee composed of Mrs. Carl Rosenkrans, Mrs. Ed. Guffin and Mrs. Arthur Wells served a dainty lunch of ice-cream, individual cup cakes attractively decorated, and coffee. The invited guests that were present to enjoy a part in this pleasant evening were: Mrs. Teresa Bayne of LaSalle, Mr. and Mrs. Mende of Earlville and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Beemer of near Compton. It was also announced that the O. E. S. and Masons are sponsoring a party which will be held Tuesday evening at the Masonic hall. A 6:30 o'clock pot luck supper will be enjoyed and all members of either organization are cordially invited to bring their families.

Missionary Society

Mrs. Maude Loyd was hostess to the members of the Presbyterian Missionary society at her home on Thursday afternoon. The usual business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. Fred Grunderman presiding and Mrs. Blanche Roberts had charge of the devotionals. There was no study lesson and each member instead brought along some interesting article which she read. During the social hour, the hostess, Mrs. Loyd assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Theodore Rosenkrans served a light lunch. A small number were on hand because of illness, but it is hoped that next month when they meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Wheeler, a much larger number will be able to attend.

located one mile north and 2½ miles west of West Brooklyn, Ill., on the Old Chicago Road, sale to be held at the premises, on

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1946

STARTING AT ONE O'CLOCK P. M.

The legal description is the West half of the N. E. quarter of Sec. 23, Township 20, Range 11, consisting of 80 acres; the West half of the Northwest quarter of Section 24, Township 20, Range 11, consisting of 80 acres; and the Southwest quarter of the Southeast quarter of Section 14, Township 20, Range 11, consisting of 40 acres.

This is one of the best producing grain and dairy farms in this community. Farm is well drained with 10 inch tile, practically all limed and the soil is in a high state of fertility. This farm is practically all level, a good producer of alfalfa and other crops. Corn made 90 bushels per acre last year. It is also close to good markets.

The buildings consist of a six room house with new roof, asbestos shingle siding and good outside chimney. Double corn crib. Dairy barn with 30 stanchions; tile silo; milk house with cooling tank; chicken house also machine shed 20x30 feet. An extra good well, 370 feet deep. Farm is equipped with electricity and wired with 220 volt wire for stove or other power machinery.

This farm will be sold in two different tracts—120 acres with buildings and 80 acres separate, then as a whole. Anyone interested in a good producing farm for a home or as an investment should attend this sale.

Terms—10 percent down on day of sale, balance March 1st, 1946, when possession will be given and a good merchantable abstract will be furnished. Anyone wishing information on this farm call Frank Stephens, 7F2, or Roy McInturf, 271, Mendota, Ill.

Is this a "SCRAP of PAPER"?

The CIO—United Steelworkers Union said that its strike does not violate its contracts with steel companies. Here is the "no strike" clause taken from a typical contract. Let the words speak for themselves!

"During the term of this Agreement, neither the Union nor any Employee, individually or collectively, shall cause or take part in any strike, or other interruption or any impeding of production at any plant of the Company covered by this Agreement. Any Employee or Employees who violate the provisions of this Section may be discharged from the employ of the Company in accordance with the procedure of Section 8 of this Agreement."

This provision, or one similar to it, is contained in each contract between the Union and the various steel companies. These contracts continue by their terms until the autumn of this year.

Cops Charged With Brutality

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Ira J. Latimer, executive director of the Chicago civil liberties committee, charges "police brutality" in questioning of two janitors in the Degnan kidnap-slaying investigation.

Chicago police need "brains instead of brawn" he told a mass meeting called by the committee last night, to solve the Degnan and other crime cases.

He said an investigation should be asked of U. S. Attorney General Thomas Clark and Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago regarding alleged "third degree methods."

Latimer said city officials had failed to comply with previous requests for investigations because "crime news sells newspapers and if newspapers were to expose police brutality I know that police would cut off the source of their crime news."

Police Commissioner John C. Prendergast commented on Latimer's charges "complaints about police third degree methods should be made to the commissioner's office, and not at public meetings."

No such complaints have yet been received, he said.

Cpl. Kenneth Joyce, stationed in India for three years, has arrived in the states and is expected in Dixon soon.

William J. Callahan, 19, seaman first class, of 157 College avenue, Dixon, is serving on the U. S. destroyer Robinson which is enroute to San Diego, Calif., after bringing to an end the longest stay in Shanghai to be made by any U. S. ship since the end of the war. The Robinson became known as "a lucky ship" after being the only one of eight destroyers in her squadron not to suffer a hit. She saw action at Tinian, Saipan, the Palaus, Leyte, Tarakan, Borneo, Mindoro, Luzon, Linayan Gulf and other island invasions and the battle of Suriago Strait. The good fortune is credited by crew members to their mythical mascot, known as "Little Robby" a gremlin who makes his home on the masthead.

Fire Protection in

paratus is useless unless there are trained men to handle the hose lines and who know where to take them so as to make the water thrown effective. There were men present who were willing to help, and who tried to help, but they did not know how, and it was only by the grace of God that there were not two or more fatalities to add to the property damage. Two volunteers were nearly thrown off the icy roof because they did not know how to handle a charged hose line.

There were three hose lines in operation before the first piece of apparatus arrived from Sterling and not one of them was in position to operate on the fire effectively, and to all intents and purposes they might just as well have not been there. Water thrown on the roof or against walls of a burning building does not reach the fire and is wasted. Hose lines must be taken inside where the water will reach the burning material. It was not until the lines from the Sterling and Rockford pumps were in operation that water was thrown where it did some good. Again I say it was not the fault of Chief Fordyce. It was the fault of Dixon citizens in not providing him with men and apparatus to do his job.

Recommendations Ignored

He has asked for men and equipment. The State Inspection board has condemned the present inadequate setup and recommended proper equipment. But the city, the citizens, have completely ignored the recommendations.

In fighting fire, time is of primary importance. It is necessary to bring equipment into action at once, and it takes men on the apparatus, when the apparatus reaches the fire, to do this—not ten or fifteen minutes later. Fire spreads to fifty times its original area in the first eight minutes.

Had there been trained men to man three good lines of hose at the Borden plant Monday night when they first arrived, the fire never would have reached the main building. The same story is true of the three serious fires in the business district in the last four years—lack of trained men in the first important minutes.

Dixon has one 1000-gallon pumper and one converted 500-gallon pumper. The 1000-gallon pumper can supply four hose lines and the 500-gallon pumper two hose lines. It takes three men to operate one hose line under working pressure. It takes one man to operate the pump who must remain there at all times. It takes one officer for each company to direct the placing of each stream in an effective position and to watch and order the necessary shifting of positions as conditions or orders of the chief require. This means that to fully man the present apparatus twenty men are necessary. The city provides six, and of these only three are on duty at any one time. In other words, there are not sufficient men to man one hose line under pressure. It is a disgraceful situation.

Ladder Truck Needed

Dixon does not have a hook and ladder truck nor a ladder that will reach to the third floor or the roof of a two and a half story building. It needs a hook and ladder truck desperately. Not only the ladders and equipment but the men who can open up and ventilate a burning building so that the hose can be advanced inside where the water can be brought to bear on the fire, and to perform rescue work when necessary, while the engine companies are operating the hose lines. This work must be performed simultaneously and one crew cannot do both. Monday night there was no way of reaching the roof of the east wing of the main building, and bringing a line of hose into action there, until the Sterling aerial truck arrived.

By all fire protection standards and experience, a city the size of Dixon should have three engine companies with pumps of not less than 750 gallons per minute capacity, and one hook and ladder company equipped with no less than 200 feet of ladders, one of which must be at least 50 feet in length. Each engine company should have six men on duty at all times. The truck company should have not less than six, preferably seven, men. One engine company and the truck should respond to every alarm. The fire department should continuously inspect every building in the city, both from the standpoint of removing fire hazards, and to familiarize themselves with entrances, stairways, aisles, etc., and the contents, so that they may know what to do in case of fire. They cannot do this without sufficient men so that no company is left short-handed when an inspector is out. There should be two new fire stations built—one in Dementtown, to cover that section and the west end of the city, and one on the North side. It is standard practice, based upon years of experience, that no part of a city should be over a mile and a half from the nearest fire station.

Alarm System Needed

Dixon has no fire alarm system, and it needs one desperately. It now depends on alarms being telephoned in to the fire station. Under the best of conditions, telephone alarms are unsatisfactory and uncertain. Every fire chief in the country has said repeatedly—the board of underwriters has repeated it—the First Protection Association has broadcast it—"A telephone should only be used for a fire alarm when there is no other means of calling the fire department." The reasons are very clear. When an excited person tries to give a location, he may give it wrong or be misunderstood, and the fire department goes to the wrong place. That is under the best of conditions. Today, when telephone service is poor, due to lack of operators and other troubles that handicap the telephone company, it is sometimes four or five minutes before an operator answers the signal—and with fire every second counts. When a fire alarm box at the street corner is pulled the signal goes instantaneously and accurately to all fire stations and tells the man on watch exactly where to go.

Dixon needs and should have now a fire alarm system with about 100 boxes properly located on the streets and connected with the City Hall bell for public notification and to call the off shift in case of serious fires where the full manpower of the department is needed.

It has been suggested that volunteers might augment the manpower of the fire department. I do not wish to decry the public spirit of volunteer departments, but they are of little value as compared to the trained men of a permanent paid department. They are willing, courageous and zealous, and respond as promptly as possible, but—and it is a big BUT—they have jobs that support their families and themselves, and they cannot and should not be expected to devote the time for training that will make them efficient. An untrained man at a fire is dangerous to himself and everybody else, and a volunteer cannot reach the fire with the apparatus and therefore is not present when he is needed most.

If Dixon will provide the apparatus and men needed as outlined above, and a fire alarm system the reduced premiums on fire insurance alone will pay over half the increased yearly cost of operation. The loss at any one of the major fires that Dixon has had would have paid the extra cost for several years. The saving of one single life would be worth every cent of cost.

This is an attempt to place the facts clearly and truthfully before the citizens of Dixon and to urge that they take immediate steps to correct a disgraceful situation and provide themselves with fire protection that they need and upon which they may rely.

Der Bingle Agrees to Return to Airwaves

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Legal difficulties between Bing Crosby and the Kraft Foods company have been resolved, according to a company announcement.

John H. Platt, Kraft vice president, said the company had withdrawn its suit for a declaratory judgment and injunction against Crosby and that the crooner would return to the Kraft Music Hall, Thursday night net work (NBC) program, on Feb. 7.

Platt said Crosby would be absent from the broadcasts occasionally because of motion picture commitments. Crosby had appeared on the program from 1935 to last fall.

Kraft's suit, filed in the state supreme court of New York, had charged Crosby refused to continue appearing on the program contrary to agreements with the company.

Russia and France Join in Jap Trials

Tokyo, Jan. 25—(AP)—Russia, France and the Netherlands today joined the international tribunal that will try Japan's top war crimes suspects, including Hideki Tojo, Japanese premier at the war's beginning.

Announcement of their participation ended weeks of uncertainty during which only the United States, China and four members of the British empire had participated in preparations for the trials, which may start in March.

All nine signatories to the surrender of Japan aboard the Missouri Sept 2 thus will take part in the trials of Tojo, his Pearl Harbor cabinet and other top flight Japanese, said Joseph B. Keenan, chief U. S. prosecutor.

Empire representatives are Great Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Russia Names Officers

A radio message from Moscow announced that Russia had named a judge and an associate prosecutor. Only a few days ago, Keenan—who came here as chief prosecutor at General MacArthur's invitation had said Russia's continued silence "makes it look pretty certain Russia won't come in". Moscow had ignored two invitations to participate.

Russia named a major general to sit in judgment on the Japanese and a man described as director of judicial science to be an assistant prosecutor, but their names were garbled in the cable to allied headquarters.

A Thought for Today

For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory, While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen for the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal

The State Ticket

The Republican party members should be pleased with the way nominations for the state ticket in the coming primary elections of April 6 are working out, with "Bill" Stratton filing for congressman at large and Richard Yates Rowe for state treasurer A battle between these two very popular capable and worthy young party leaders would have been disruptive to the party harmony and unpleasant for the countless friends of both of them.

Stratton is still in the navy and overseas but will be home in time to make his campaign and Rowe is another Republican whose candidacy lends strength to the ticket. Both are downstate men and have the confidence of the rank and file of Illinois voters, both in Cook County and downstate. Vernon Nickels, who is filing for superintendent of public instruction is another strong candidate whose very successful administration of that important office will insure his nomination and re-election.

William Stratton will have opposition in the primaries in the person of Benjamin Day, but Stratton may be depended upon to win the nomination and also to win over Congresswoman Emily Taft Douglas the present Democratic congressman at large in the general election this fall.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington — The confounding results of Truman's submission of his domestic economic program to congress are plainly evident no deeper than the newspaper headlines. His plans to thwart inflation were greeted with an immediate rising of the stock market in expectation of inflation News headlines on his message generally said: "Truman Calls for Action to Prevent Inflation". The New York Times acount of stock price increases of the following day was headed: "Inflation Outlook Advances Stocks".

The mart men simply did not believe the program would stop rising prizes—and neither do I How could anyone? If auto wages are to be hiked 18.5 per cent and the cost of steel increased by $4 a ton as originally proposed, or more, how can the selling price of cars be kept from increasing? Steel is the basic ingredient of autos and labor the main cost factor of their manufacture.

Knowing souls in congress, therefore, wink their eyes and say prices will sneak up as a result of the Truman measures now on the fire. Regardless of OPA or high water. If wages and basic materials in general go up, can prices be far behind? War experience developed many ways in which price increases could be accomplished indirectly if not directly—reduction of quality, creation of new products which cannot be price-catalogued, and many others.

Yet it seems no one objects to what Truman says, only to what Truman does. His recitation of his purposes drew no criticism from congress and little elsewhere. The country evidently wants the basic idea of a high wage-price economy with full employment, will pay high taxes and is opposed to further inflation. So does congress. No one wants deflation.

But the things Truman proposes to do are simply not generally in accord with his purposes. To think that costs can be increased without a price increase is not the only strain upon average intelligence. Truman wants congress to pass immediately the CIO full employment bill, pledging the government to great expenditures, and is already increasing practically every appropriation for peace activities of the government, even planning a new big wing on the White House, and proposing increases of salaries of congress—at a time when we are threatened with inflation. Normal reasoning would call for the opposite tactics of government economy in a battle against inflation

Again, a main problem of the fight against inflation is to get our men back to work, but his budget calls for $16,000,000,000 for national defense (a new kind of spending, the economic effects of which are not clear, as much of the money may wind up in foreign lands) Although he says veterans are lounging before going to work (war workers also?), He demands that congress increase the unemployment compensation allowance, and extend the number of weeks men may get it, thus counteracting his quick reemployment purpose.

He wants congress to increase the minimum wage (for unskilled labor largely), but this labor is already generaly getting a higher wage than the proposed figure. Yet, by whatever degree it increases minimum wages in some industries, it will serve the cause of inflation.

His recommendaton for continuance of OPA controls is about the only one which jibes with his anti-inflationary purposes, but he is simultaneously digging a hole in that ceiling for steel, and is proposing to pay bigger government subsidies on food in an effort to conceal a price increase by having the government pay for it. He is paying subsidies to packers to hold down meat prices, but the workers are striking for his wage increases which must increase the prices on subsidies.

Thus his actions run counter to his theory in basic fundamentals. He has the right program, but is defeating it himself in many ways.

The above reasoning represents not only what I think, but what congress, believes, as well as the stock market This explains the incongruities of the White House-congress stalemate which was not broken by the president's earnest message.

Deaths

JOHN C. LALLY

John C. Lally passed away at his home, 322 Fifth street, early this morning. Although he had been in failing health for several months. Mr. Lally's death is a shock to his many friends in this community.

He was born in South Dixon township and had made his home in Marion township for many years before coming to Dixon about twenty-five years ago.

He was preceded in death by three sisters and one brother and is survived by several nieces and and nephews residing in Savanna and Chicago.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 9 a. m. at the Jones funeral home and at 9.30 at St. Patrick's Catholic church, the Rev. Father T. L. Walsh officiating and with interment in Oakwood cemetery.

Spain Seeks Another Trio of War Planes

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—The state department had under consideration today an application by the Spanish government to buy three more American transport planes in addition to 19 already received.

A state department official disclosed last night discovery that three Army twin-engined transports forced down and interned in Spain during the war had been sold to the government-dominated Iberian airline. He added that sale of four more had just been approved

Fair Enough

by Westbrook Pegler

(Copyright 1946, by King Features Syndicate.)

Whatever the outcome of the Pearl Harbor case, and it is so darkly confused by politics that clear judgment will be impossible for many years, the brutal cynicism of the kangaroo court held by Justice Owen Roberts of the Supreme court, to accommodate President Roosevelt, will be established beyond doubt.

This irregular body arbitrarily condemned Admiral Kimmel and General Short after an inquiry in which they were given false and dishonest assurances that they were not on trial Denial counsel, forbidden to present witnesses or cross-examine their accusers, denied even a statement of charges against them, they nevertheless were found guilty of dereliction of duty and, for four years, lived under a cloud and in a state of humiliation.

During this time they were forbidden to speak publicly in their defense and were denied formal trials on specific charges. Had they broken silence they could have been tried for that and dismissed from the service with forfeiture of their pensions as additional punishment and without any discussion of their guilt or innocence in the Pearl Harbor disaster.

The facts developed by the belated investigations show that, if these men were remiss at all, they were much less negligent than some superiors in Washington who nevertheless continued to serve in the war and accumulated rank and honors. They show, further, that the Roberts commission was just an artificial device, hurriedly assembled, not to capture the truth ere it should vanish in the confusion of war, but to select victims for a sacrifice and distract public attention from the failure of others.

President Roosevelt's directive to the Roberts commission pointedly excluded himself, Cordell Hull and Frank Knox from the scope of the inquiry by restricting its interest to failures of men in the Army and Navy

That a justice of the Supreme court should accept the mission under restraints so obviously intended to place beyond question the conduct of responsible civilians which plainly was subject to question was deeply disquieting That this justice and a group of generals and admirals should then flout the fundamental rights which both our civil and military law guarantees all defendants is an equally sordid manifestation of the morality which was introduced in the gold clause case and reached its most defiant expression in the deliberate swindle of Elliott Roosevelt's creditors solely by his father's arrangement.

Obviously this case will never be pushed to a conclusion. If General George Marshall was guilty of neglect, bad judgment or dereliction, his great service as chief of staff his admirable character and patriotism and his further sacrifice and performance in China, when he would have retired to a rest well-earned, will preclude his trial on charges.

Roosevelt and Knox are gone and so historians will pass varying judgments on them, influenced and confused by the political bias of the data Even Japan will receive the benefit of the proven fact that, in the Atlantic, American warships were shooting at the Germans without a declaration of war and the revelation that Roosevelt contemplated the capture of the Azores, by a surprise attack, from Portugal which never did enter the war.

It appears that the reasons for the abandonment of this plan were not legal or moral but political and that the original intention was to strike a peaceful world-neighbor without warning, even as the Japs did at Pearl Harbor.

Already Kimmel and Short have been vindicated by service inquiries. This was a negative way of averting courts martial which might have absolved them on the facts but might have established the failure of others Good faith has been lacking throughout, politics and spite have been strongly influential in all the proceedings and the reputation of the higher ranks of the services for scrupulous honor, at whatever sacrifice, has suffered, a loss not only to the services but to the nation as a whole.

It is not discounting 3,000 dead at Pearl Harbor, the loss of a fleet and the immeasurable further human losses that were suffered in redressing this first blow to say that the conduct of the president and the Roberts commission was more grievous to the United States. For here, by order of the president, himself, acting in his own personal interest through servile men of high position, two citizens were condemned and disgraced without even a pretense of justice or lawful procedure and in violation of the right of trial which we grant every prostitute and pickpocket.

WHEN they got back to the inn, Lesley Hitt was not there. Henry, rose-cheeked and smiling, was in Mr. Hitt's place.

"Where's Mr Hitt?" Pike asked

"He's sick sir." Henry said

"There's a message for me," Pike said.

"Yes, sir. It's right here in your box"

It was a plain white sealed envelope Pike opened it, glanced at the signature, then moved a little away from Lois. It was from Fay Tudor

Mr Dear Mr Calvin

I am leaving this afternoon for New York May I remind you of the book which you took from the library on my card? If you will return it when you have finished it Miss Felton will hold my card at the library

Possibly I underestimated you when I said it would take more than a book to enlighten you If anything could do it, "The Rope" would

Sincerely yours

Fay Tudor

"Which one is it this time?" Lois asked 'Clay or Tudor?"

Pike passed her the note and started for the stairs She didn't overtake him until he had put the key in his lock She gave him Fay's note She said

"A singularly unimpressioned document"

Pike went over and picked up "The Rope" Fay's library card was in the back of the book also a page torn out of the back of a pocket edition of a paper-covered reprint with a list of titles One was checked Pike stared at it It was a story by Agatha Christie: "The Body in the Library"

There was a cryptic message written at the bottom of the page:

"More your speed. You can add to that something called 'Ann's House,' which may be a little rich for your blood, but with which you ought to be familiar

"Good luck. I'll be at the Braemore. Write, phone or call.

Always,

F"

"The Body in the Library,'" Lois said Her dark eyes were thoughtful.

"Look," Pike put his forefinger on the title.

"Great heavens!" Lois stared at Pike "She means Mary Butler."

Pike nodded

"Not in the library" Pike pointed to the fake title—"Ann's House" "In the librarian's house"

"Well, pretty cute" Lois paused "But I don't like it"

"I don't either" Pike said, "but it's got to be done"

"You mean you're going rummaging around in Bateman's cellar looking for a—corpse"

"Yeah" Pike said. "Want to come?"

"No" Lois said

"All right" Pike said "Run down stairs and find out what time Fay Tudor checked out and what train she took You might also check this signature against Fay's signature in the register" He passed Lois the letter. "I think Henry will be helpful"

"What else?" Lois said

"Find out what train we can get this evening and get tickets."

"That makes sense"

Pike gave her the money

"I'm going to look up Roger Bland and tell him we're pulling out"

"Aren't we?" Lois said.

"You are Pike said.

ROGER BLAND was not in THE PUB. Luigi did not know where he was And Henry had not seen him since lunch

Pike returned to his room Hitt and Bland both missing. That was a sobering thought He would like to know how many eyes had seen Fay Tudor's note

Lois came back She stood in the doorway and her lovely slim figure seemed to sag. She said:

"Two coach tickets on the 8 57 to the big city. Signature tallies. Tudor checked out at 1 p. m. She did not take either of the afternoon trains."

"Is there any other way she could have gone?"

"Henry thinks Gil Manson picked her up outside the inn about 1:45"

Pike picked up the 'phone.

"Desk," lisped a voice. "Mr. Hitt speaking"

"I thought you were sick." Pike said.

"I am better." Mr Hitt said.

"Where's Henry?"

"Henry's gone on an errand."

"Oh." Pike said

"Is there something I can do?"

"No" Pike said

He hung up. He looked at Lois.

"Lois," he said, "I need a gun"

Lois put her hand in her bag and took out a pistol. Pike was accustomed to Lois now, but this took him back a little.

"Do you want bullets, too?" She took out a handful of shells. "I think they go in those little holes"

"Yes, honeybee," Pike inserted five shells left an empty chamber under the hammer, and slipped the pistol into his pocket "I want Henry to drive us to the train We'll get aboard I'll get off on the other side. You stay aboard and if you don't hear from me by 8 a m, you'd better have Sam come look for me"

At 8.45 Henry drove Pike and Lois up to the station.

Pike took Lois's arm and walked her along the platform.

"Remember," he said. "Eight a m"

The train whistled and Lois glanced back at Henry. He was watching the headlight of the locomotive It was reasonably dark. She said

"You'd better leave now Pike. It's less conspicuous than getting on and off again"

"Not bad," Pike said. He patted her cheek.

"Well, go on," she said.

Pike went. He passed behind the station and crossed the road. He went down the other side and into a thicket of alders.

ROBERT KAZMAYER, AUTHORITY ON RUSSIAN AFFAIRS, SPEAKS AT TALK-OF-THE-HOUR CLUB

The Talk of the Hour club and guests listened with intense interest to an address, "What Russia Means to Us" given by Robert Kazmayer at the Loveland Community House last evening.

Mr. Kazmayer advised that we "back away from the headlines far enough to get an historic perspective". There is danger in following the headlines too closely. Although Russia is often thought of as a western nation, she is really a nation where the east and the West meet, and an awakening East has come onto the horizon.

Having visited Russia on six different trips to that country, the speaker told of the two factors which impressed him most. First the sheer size of the country and her resources, which are sure to make her an important nation in the world. Secondly, that she is essentially an eastern nation. Stalin had to bring strong incentive to overcome the lack of a sense of urgency. Communism attempted to step-up the tempo of life. The five-year-plan did much in the speeding up process. In this plan maps were used everywhere showing the over-all objectives as well as the particular plan of accomplishmnt for that factory. "I am building Russia" was the slogan. The Russia of today has been built by people who have worked harder than any other peoples perhaps except our own American pioneers.

There is in our country a growing wave of distrust of Russia, and the same kind of distrust of us is sweeping Russia. This is a dangerous condition, since we are major powers in the world picture. If the United States and Russia can get along, there can be no major war in the years ahead.

In order to establish communism, Russia made frontal attacks on the basic tenets of western civilization. Since the inception of communism in Russia there have been some important changes. It is now more difficult and more expensive to get a divorce in Russia than in the U. S. There is a changing attitude toward religion. There is now a spread in the wage scale. However, no major concessions have been made to capitalism in the matter of state and production.

Russia has a dictatorship of the poletariat, which can be outgrown. Lenin said it would require three generations before the people were ready for a democracy.

There is definitely a swing to the left all over Europe. Communism spreads in fertile soil under the guidance of professional revolutionaries.

The United States must be realistic and prepare to defend her own interests. Since the time of Theodore Roosevelt we have lacked a definite foreign policy. We seem to turn to experts for advice in everything of importance except our national administration and defense, and there we are willing to take the advice of anyone.

Mr. Kazmayer expressed the opinion that our greatest danger lay within our country. We need to return to the virtue of work. We need self-discipline. We must keep alive our faith in God.

Ben Shaw introduced the speaker and acted as chairman of the forum.

Methodist Church Elects Officers for New Year

On last Tuesday evening the Sunday school of the First Methodist church held its annual meeting beginning with a cooperative supper at 6:30 o'clock. Following the supper reports were given by the various officers and department superintendents on the work of the past year. These reports revealed a very healthy condition in connection with every phase of the work and most encouraging gains in both enrollment and attendance in various departments. Because of the crowded condition of some of the children's department the trustees of the church are starting to plan a program of remodeling to take care of the need for more room.

Following the presentation of annual reports the following officers and teachers were elected and confirmed for the new year:

General superintendent — Leon Garrison.

Assistant superintendent — Earl Slagle.

Secretary—Ralph Clark.

Assistant secretary — Lawrence Leydig.

Treasurer—John Wadsworth.

Secretary of supplies — Ruth Merrick.

Orchestra leader — Richard Belcher.

Chorister—J. W. Cadle.

Department Superintendents

Cradle roll—Miss Estella Anderson.

Beginners—Mrs. Olive Clingman.

Assistant—Mrs. E. J. Randall.

Primary—Miss Irma Grose.

Assistant—Miss Anza Lawton.

Junior—Mrs. Bertha Sawyer.

Young People—Mrs. H. W. Leydig.

Adults—Vernon G. Mays.

Department Teachers

Beginners—Mrs. Harold Epsy, Mrs. Ivan Wallace, Mrs. Paul Miller and Mrs. Arthur Dodd.

Primary—Mrs. Alvah Drew, Miss Dorothy Hertenstein, Mrs. C. F. Johnson, Mrs. Myron Willey, Mrs. L. A. Garrison, Miss Flora Seals and Mrs. Willis Hood.

Junior—Lucille Heckman, Carroll Greene, Mrs. Casper Blimling, Mrs. A. E. Marth, Mrs. Roy Clingman, J. W. Cortright, Mrs. Eva Wadsworth and Mrs. Randall Warfel.

Young People—Miss Ethel Cline, Mrs. Blair Ritterspach, Mrs. Harold Segren, J. D. Barton, Jr., and Merle Hall.

Adults—W. H. Brewster, Mrs. A. I. Hardy, S. W. Naylor, Mrs. Clara Shawger, Mrs. Crawford Thomas, and Paul Armstrong.

The meeting was brought to a close after an inspirational talk by the pastor, Dr. Floyd L. Blewfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Olijar, whose marriage took place in the chapel of the 216th hospital unit on August 22, 1945 at Stutgard, Germany, are pictured above at a post-nuptial reception at the Nachusa hotel, Jan. 20.

POST-NUPTIAL RECEPTION HELD FOR MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL OLIJAR WHO WERE MARRIED IN GERMANY

A post-nuptial reception was held Sunday afternoon, Jan. 20, at the Nachusa hotel dining room by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tholen of 803 Chicago avenue honoring their eldest daughter Dorothy and her husband, Michael Olijar.

The tea table was attractively decorated with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom as the centerpiece. On either side were lighted yellow tapers in crystal holders. The floral bouquet, also in crystal, consisted of yellow jonquils and blue iris.

Elfreda, the bride's younger sister, did the pouring. Miss Dorothy Krum, who was a classmate of Dot's during their three years of nurses training and graduated in the same nursing course at the Dixon public hospital, served the cake. Mrs. Ben Johnson, aunt of bride had charge of the guest book.

The new Mrs. Olijar was wearing a street length dress of pink floral print and had a shoulder corsage of red roses. She wore a small black straw hat and veiling to match. The bride's mother was attired in a navy blue dress and wore a corsage of pink carnations. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tholen and the bridal pair. Seventy-five guests and relatives expressed their good wishes for the couple.

The young couple were married in a military ceremony performed at the chapter of the 216th hospital unit on August 22, 1945, at Stutgard, Germany. They both served in the United States Army as lieutenants. Dorothy in the Army Nurse Corps and Michael as a laison pilot with the field artillery. They have recently returned to the United States and have been released from active duty. They are now at home at 919 West Addison street, Chicago.

Among those attending the reception from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker and son, Harlon; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Baker of Mt. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Koontz, Mrs. Albert Tholen, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Myers and children of Oregon, Mrs. Wilber Dysart, Mary E. Jones and Lola Mielke of Franklin Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hullah and daughter, Lois of Amboy. Guests from Chicago included the bride's sister. Mrs. Tony Basica, Mr. Basica and their son and Tony's brother, Nicholas Basica.

ANNUAL LEGION DINNER TO BE MARCH 17TH

The American Legion Auxiliary held its regular meeting at the Legion hall on Wednesday evening. During the business meeting the District Director urged that the membership be increased, and that every member bring in a new one.

The Auxiliary donated $5.00 to the March of Dimes. A class of twenty-one candidates were initiated with Mrs. Mazie Kelly acting as sergeant-at-arms. Plans were made for the annual birthday dinner which is to be held the 17th of March. The charter was then draped in memory of Mrs. Glendine Hammerstrom.

Mrs. Janna Ware invited the Auxiliary to the public installation of the Woman's Relief Corps on Monday afternoon.

After the meeting O. F. Goeke was introduced and he gave an interesting talk and showed colored pictures of his hunting trip in northern Canada.

Refreshments were served later by the following hostesses: Mesdames Clara Traynor, Sophia Clark, Martha Miller and Esther Walder.

Walter Gahm, employed at the Borden condensory, is a patient in the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital, where he is receiving treatment for secondary burns. About 7 o'clock Tuesday evening Gahm sustained the burns when he was reported to have poured caustic soda into water and it flared in his face. His sight may be impaired from the acid fumes and it is expected that he will be hospitalized for several weeks.

Panel Opens Hearings on Harvester Tieup

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A three-man fact-finding panel was scheduled to open hearings today in the strike of 30,000 employes of the International Harvester company who walked out of 10 plants in Illinois, Indiana and New York Monday.

The government board instructed company representatives and those of the CIO United Farm Equipment & Metal Workers union to prepare briefs on their controversy over a 30 per cent wage rate increase and a closed shop.

wage dispute. Workers involved numbered 25,000.

The five-day old walkout of 750,000 CIO steel workers will force the layoff of 15,000 employes at the Ford Motor Company tonight, the company reported, and it said 25,000 additional workers would be affected in a week.

The giant steel strike, biggest single industrial dispute in the nation's history, which showed no indications of approaching settlement, threatened to involve thousands of other workers in allied industries.

Truman yesterday reiterated his solution of the steel dispute—granting an 18½ cent raise—and said he did not contemplate federal seizure of the industry at this time.

G. M. Strike Deadlocked

The 65-day General Motors strike, making idle some 200,000 workers, remained deadlocked on 30 per cent wage increase demands.

The UAW-CIO continued wage negotiations with Chrysler and Ford yesterday.

A mediation meeting in New York in the strike of 200,000 CIO electrical workers against General Electric, Westinghouse and General Motors was recessed temporarily and Arthur S. Meyer, one of the arbitrators, said additional information would be collected before negotiations were reopened. Workers struck Jan. 15 in support of demands for a $2 a day wage increase.

Settle St. Louis Strike

Agreement was reached in St. Louis early today to end an 18-day strike of 1,500 truck drivers which has made an estimated 90,000 persons idle in four states. The agreement, reached by leaders of two locals of the AFL Teamsters' & Chauffeurs' Union and the St. Louis Team & Truck Owners' Association, gives drivers pay increases ranging from $5.10 to $7.60 a week and vacation benefits but retains the 48 hour work week. Union leaders said they would try and get the men back on the job today.

A coastwise shipping tieup was declared imminent by the official newspaper of the CIO International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union. The paper said that longshoremen had experienced delays in obtaining retroactive pay ordered by the War Labor Board. The dispute cancelled negotiations on the 1946 contract with employers.

Situation at Ford's

Detroit, Jan. 25—(AP)—While 15,000 of its employes faced immediate layoffs due to the steel strike, the Ford Motor Co. went ahead today in its effort to resolve a two-cent an hour wage difference with the CIO United Auto Workers.

Ford, first auto producer to attribute a layoff directly to the steel strike, announced it would send the 15,000 home tonight and an additional 25,000 a week later. A "complete shutdown" is threatened, the company said.

The production curtailments, disclosed as Ford and union officials were reported nearing agreement on wages, company security and other issues, will have no effect on future bargaining sessions, both parties emphasized.

The UAW-CIO slashed its demands on Ford from 30 per cent to 19½ cents an hour—about 16 per cent—after the latter figure was recommended by a presidential fact-finding board to settle the strike of 175,000 General Motors workers.

The company has offered 17½ cents—about 14.4 per cent.

General Motors, meanwhile, denied it had failed to bargain in good faith with the UAW-CIO, as charged by the National Labor Relations Board, and asked the board to dismiss its complaint. A hearing on the charge is slated to begin here Monday before NLRB member, Gerald D. Reilly.

Monday Confab Set By UNO to Discuss Russian-Iran Case

Strong Russ Opposition Overruled as Council Votes Acceptance

London, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The United Nations security council formally agreed today to discuss the tense military-political situations in Iran, Greece and Indonesia at its next meeting.

The council thus disregarded a request from Soviet Russia that it decline to take up the dispute over Iran.

The next meeting will be held Monday.

The action came on the motion of the American delegate, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., after British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had declared he was "so tired of these charges by the Soviet Union in private" (against Britain) that he was anxious for a full discussion at the earliest possible moment.

The 11-member council, proceeding to put the new world peace organization in working order, took steps to get its military staff committee functioning. The council ordered military representatives of the principal powers to hold their first meeting here by Feb. 1 when work will be started on the special agreements by which nations are to pledge land, sea and air forces to enforce security council orders when necessary.

Over Red Objections

The action to take up the situations in Iran, Greece and Indonesia came two hours after Russia had registered categoric opposition to discussion of the Iran complaint that the Red army has been interfering in Iran's internal affairs.

The chief Soviet delegate, vice commissar of foreign affairs, Andrei Vishinsky, filed a letter with the council president, N. J. O. Makin of Australia, setting forth a five-point reply to the Iranian charge. He declared Iran's complaints were groundless and that the channels of direct negotiation between the two countries were open.

The statement was released by the UNO information service just two hours before the security council was to go into session to decide whether it should consider not only Iran's charges against Russia but also Russia's charges of British interference in the affairs of Greece and Indonesia.

Russia Has No Veto

Although Russia thus voiced her opposition to council consideration of Iran's case, she does not have a veto on whether it will be discussed.

The question of taking up all three cases will be decided by a majority vote of the 11 members and unanimity is not required among the five principal powers.

U. S. Delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., reiterating the stand taken yesterday by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, told the American delegation early today he was prepared to support a proposal for council consideration of all three cases and for holding a hearing on them as soon as possible.

As the council members prepared for the historic meeting, scheduled for 3 p. m. (9 a. m. CST), they learned that they might have another knotty problem handed to them even before they finish their first major tests.

Barbershop Song-Lovers Asked to Join City Group

Early in 1938, O. C. Cash, tax attorney for three big oil companies in Tulsa, Okla., discovered that he was getting a bad case of jitters from struggling with multitudinous and ever-increasing governmental rules, regulations and alphabetical agencies, and decided that what he needed was a hobby.

Recalling the carefree, unfettered days of his youth and the pleasure he got sitting around the village barber shop and vocalizing with the fellows, he decided to invite in some kindred souls and do a little old-fashioned harmonizing. He invited an even dozen men, but the word got around and four times that number showed up at the meeting—including many of the most prominent and influential citizens of Tulsa.

Then and there another—but totally different kind—of alphabetical agency was born—the S. P. E. B. S. Q. S. A.—which freely translated stands for "The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Singing in America, incorporated."

Today this organization is making history. It is a typically American institution, for it had its inception in thousands of American small towns and villages — right down at the grass roots of our civilization. Its membership includes men from all walks of life—laboring men and millionaires, merchants, doctors, insurance men, lawyers, teachers, etc. The society numbering its membership in thousands, has chapters in many states of the union.

John Hanson, musical director of harmony singing of Peoria has been invited to help start a chapter in Dixon Wednesday, Jan. 30th at the Loveland Community House. All men are invited to attend this meeting. For information phone No. 5, Ben Shaw.

A more immediate result of the Army Signal Corps accomplishment, Burton and associate G. M. Clemence said, may be exacter measurement of the distance between earth and moon, a basic yardstick of many astronomical calculations.

"At present time," said Clemence, "we know the distance to within about ten miles, but through radar contact it may eventually be possible to get the distance to within a tenth of a mile.

"Once that accuracy is achieved, it would lead to the revision of a number of theoretical developments in astronomy."

Burton told a reporter radar contact might ultimately lead to a definite answer as to whether any form of life exists on the moon.

A breakthrough to Venus would be most desirable, he explained, because "conjectures have been made that life exists on Venus and also on Mars."

"It's believed," he said, "that Venus might be suitable for vegetation and she's close enough to the sun to get plenty of heat."

"That first trip each man carried 25 to 30 kilograms (55 to 65 pounds) of stone. They were beaten all the way. They had to run back down again.

"On the second trip, the loads were heavier still. The blows on them were redoubled and stones were hurled at them. The same process was repeated the whole day.

"That evening the party in which I was working came from the quarry and climbed the steps which were covered with blood. I almost stepped on the jaw of a man.

"Twenty-one bodies were lying there, and the 26 others died the following morning."

The general condition of Ernst Kaltenbrunner, who has missed all but a half dozen sessions of the trial because of a cranial hemmorhage, was said by the physicians to be gradually improving.

Dukes Entertain Rock Falls Tonite

Local Quintet Goes After Fourth Place in Conference Race

Rockets Still Looking for First Conference Win This Season

Dissatisfied with crowded conditions on the fourth rung of the NCIC ladder, the Dukes go after sole occupancy of that spot when they go up against Rock Falls' quintet tonight on the Dixon high school floor. At present they share the berth with Spring Valley and Mendota. The first game starts at 7 p. m.

The Hall Township five, principal foe of the Dukes for the spot, are currently taking time off from conference activity to try for Bureau County tournament honors. So a Duke win tonight will put them a step ahead of the Nesti crew in the North Central race.

Rockets in Cellar

Rock Falls has yet to break into the win column in league competition. They have dropped all four of their conference games and rank with Princeton as the only winless team in the loop.

The locals trounced the Rockets decisively in Rock Falls Dec. 15 in a non-conference match and shouldn't have a great deal of trouble repeating the performance here tonight.

Rock Falls also dropped a decision by a 15-point margin a few weeks ago to Mendota, conquered by the Dukes a week ago. They dropped Sterling Community in a ragged game Tuesday night by a 35 to 21 margin, but aside from that they've had little luck this year.

Houston and Ebenezer have been the main offensive powers for the Rockets, with a newcomer, Livingston, bowing in with five baskets against Community Tuesday.

Sterling Faces DeKalb

Top clash in the conference tonight will be the first place battle between Sterling's Golden Warriors, undefeated in three tries, and DeKalb's undefeated Barbs, winners of four games. They meet tonight in the Sterling Coliseum. Sterling, harried considerably last week by Ottawa's persistent Pirates, should be primed for this one.

Princeton, Rock Falls' cellar partner in the conference, gets a good rest this weekend, because of the Bureau County tournament. They were eliminated in the first round by Cherry.

The probable lineups for tonight's game:

Dixon		Rock Falls
Schultz	forward	Houston
Hirchrecht	forward	Ebenezer
Walker	center	Livingston
Vasle	guard	Bohms
Schumacher	guard	Stevens

--BOWLING--

Cahill's downed The Telegraph in Commercial league bowling last night, winning two games. Lind rolled 200 and 205 in the final two games to lead the winners. Scottie's picked up a pair of games on Peter Piper's expense, rolling a 1020 total in the third contest, to pull into a tie with The Telegraph in league standings. Mercer and Dashbach each turned in a 213 game.

Marshall's Barbers won a pair from George's Cafe. Lovin had a 208 in the final game for the winners. Welch's Realtors took all three matches from the Knights of Columbus, with Bovey's 201 total for the Realtors. Dixon Rapid Transfer eased past Central Foods in two of three games, with Tucker rolling a 200 game.

Chicago Motor club downed One-Stop Service three times. Emmert had a 202 game for the winners. Reynolds Wire swept their matches with Floyd's Independents. Winebrenner rolled 203 in the opener for the victors. Carson's 66 dropped a pair of games to Sparky's Fenders in the other loop tussle.

Purdue Five Will Test Gophers as Lambert Departs

Chicago, Jan. 25—(AP)—For the first time in almost thee decades, a Purdue basketball squad set out for a Big Ten battle today without Ward L. (Piggy) Lambert as its head coach.

As a group of 15 Boilermaker cagers moved through here enroute to Minneapolis, the hand of Mel Taube, named as head coach after Lambert resigned last Tuesday, guided the fate of the basketball dynasty which won or shared in 11 Western conference titles with Lambert in the driver's seat.

Lambert, dean of Big Ten coaches, directed Purdue cage destinies for more than 28 years.

Taube's first shot at a Big Ten win against Minnesota tomorrow was no soft picking. Purdue has won only two of six conference games while the Gophers have tripped through conference play undefeated in three starts.

The Gopher's record puts them at the top of the conference standings and their contest with the Boilermakers holds much of the Big Ten's interest, although the skirmish between second place Ohio State and Michigan is expected to touch off fireworks in Ann Arbor.

Michigan, with wins over Northwestern, Chicago and Illinois, appears to have enough talent on tap to stop the Buckeye bid for a title.

The conference's two other title bearing games pit Wisconsin and Chicago, both without a Big Ten win, against Northwestern and Indiana, respectively.

The Badger-Wildcat clash, as part of a doubleheader in Chicago Stadium, marks the debut of Bob Haarlow, brother of a one-time Chicago great, Bill, in a Wisconsin uniform. DePaul and Marquette are paired in the other Stadium attraction.

In non-conference games, Illinois invades Great Lakes and Notre Dame takes an undefeated record to Kentucky, which has lost only once.

Hall Swamps Ohio; Walnut Advances in Bureau County Play

Hall Township's basketball team lived up to the favorite billing tacked on it last night by swamping Ohio with a flood of baskets to win their quarter-finals match easily, 63 to 42. Hall now vies with DePue, Walnut and Cherry in semi-final action in the Bureau County tourney.

Walnut's quintet whipped Manlius, 43 to 29, and DePue, ranked next to Hall as favorite for the title, advanced over Tiskilwa, 45 to 35.

Cherry, the fourth squad in the semi-finals quartette, won their berth in action the previous night, defeating Bureau Township by a 47 to 13 margin.

N. U. Swimmers Meet Minnesotans Tonight

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 25—(AP)—Northwestern University's swimming team, paced by two undefeated freshman performers, will seek its third straight triumph of the season when it meets Minnesota tohight in Patten gymnasium pool.

Doster May Prove a Worthy Partner for Famed Whiz Kids

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 25—If Illinois basketball coach Doug Mills today had to choose one of his 1946 team to play with the four Whiz Kids who may be back for another year's competition, his unhesitating choice would be Bob Doster.

That's the kind of value Mills places on this lanky 18-year-old freshman from Decatur who leads the Big Ten and his team in scoring and ranks as one of the finest first-year prospects in the conference.

"Without considering Dick Foley, who was here for only a few games in 1943, I'd say Doster is the finest freshman basketball player I've ever coached," Mills observed as he watched the Illini in practice.

Good for Freshman

"He may not develop as rapidly as some others in his next three years, but for a freshman he is farther along than a coach would expect."

Doster sands 6 feet even and weighs 165 pounds, is a tireless workman, a fine ball handler, one of the league's best shots, and above all, a real competitor.

"Bob loves to play basketball," Mills said, "and he is a truly fine competitor. He works just as hard whether his team's ahead or behind and has the spirit of a truly great player."

Doster, who answers to the nickname "Chick", achieved stardom in high school as a member of Decatur's 1945 Illinois State prep champions. During that season he tallied 514 points in 41 games, better than 12 points per game, and was the real offensive spark of a scoring machine which centered on 6 foot 8 inch George Riley.

When the 1945 state tournament rolled around, Doster hit his peak. In Decatur's first game against Collinsville, Chick set a new scoring record with 34 points and smashed all previous records for field goals with 16.

Only Illinois high school player ever to make 34 points in a tournament game before was L. M. T. Stillwell, now Illinois team physician, who acomplished the feat for Olney in 1920 under old rules which allowed one player to shoot all his team's free throws.

Doster also starred in Decatur's thrilling 73-72 triumph in an overtime over Galesburg, rated by sports writers as one of the greatest high school games of all time. With his team behind 66-64 and seconds to play, Doster hit a field goal which sent the game into an extra period.

Plays Baseball Too

Joining the Illini as a freshman this season, Doster quickly won a regular berth at forward and has played more minutes in Illinois' 15 games than any other player.

Hitting 25 points against Chicago Saturday brought his season's total in Big Ten play to 104, an average of 14.8 per game. For all games, Doster has 197 points for a 14-point average.

Chick won eight letters at Decatur high, three in basketball, three in track, and two in football. He didn't try the gridiron at Illinois last fall, but will be torn between two loves this spring.

Doster's chief ambition is to make the grade for professional baseball and he's also a capable hurdler. But, that's a decision for the future.

Paw Paw Reaches Finals; Top Serena

Paw Paw high school's basketball team continued its battle for the Little Ten conference tournament championship last night, defeating Serena, 40 to 35, in the semi-final round last night at Sandwich. Paw Paw led 24 to 19 at half-time in a game which was close from start to finish.

Bob Torman and Ken Carnahan sparked the winning attack for Paw Paw, Torman counting 11 points and Carnahan getting ten. Arntzen tallied ten markers for Serena.

Paw Paw now meets Plano in the championship game. Plano downed Rollo, 50 to 32, in the other semi-final match last night. The lineups:

West Brooklyn Wins in Meridian Tourney

West Brooklyn's basketball team, led by John Gehant, defeated Caledonia last night at Kings, 38 to 27, in a Meridian conference tournament game. Franklin Grove and Compton were other winners, measuring Kings and Steward respectively.

Gehant paced the West Brooklyn offensive with 20 points.

Philadelphia Meet Features Miler's Return to Boards

Philadelphia, Jan. 25—(AP)—Four hundred and eighty-one athletes will compete in 23 events tonight at Convention hall in the second annual Philadelphia Inquirer Invitation indoor track meet.

Marcel Hansenne, 29-year-old French half-mile and mile champion, will make his first public appearance in the United States in an exhibition run, meet Director Lawson Robertson, University of Pennsylvania track coach, disclosed.

Feature attraction will be Les MacMitchell's first postwar start in the mile event. The New York ace, who'll be competing unattached, was one of the nation's top-flight prewar milers, but he has not raced the mile for three and a half years.

In his last outing, a 1,000-yard event in New York last Saturday, MacMitchell finished third.

Furnishing competition will be Forest Efaw, the former Oklahoma A. & M. speedster, who holds the U. S. three-mile title; Rury Simms, N. Y. U.'s intercollegiate 4-A mile champ and defending titlist; Howard Borck, 1938 outdoor 800-meter and indoor mile champion; Walter Mehl, 1940 outdoor mile winner.

Thirty-three national champions will be among track stars representing 63 schools and colleges, 20 A. A. U. clubs, and seven service units.

Bill Bangert, Purdue's singing shotput artist, is to open the meet with a baritone rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Baseball Salaries Will Reach Loftier Heights Very Soon

Greenberg, DiMaggio in Top Pay Spots for Present Stars

New York, Jan. 24—(AP)—Major league baseball salaries in the postwar era, starting this year, promise generally to reach lofty heights, although Babe Ruth's record $80,000 stipend in 1930 and '31 seems safe—at least for a few more years.

In sharp contrast to the days when Iron Man Ed Walsh was refused a $500 raise after receiving $2,500 for winning 40 games for the Chicago White Sox in 1908, an Associated Press survey showed today that at least 15 big league performers probably will be paid 1946 salaries ranging from $55,000 down to $20,000.

Heading this group is Hank Greenberg, the former Army Air Force captain now back with the Detroit Tigers, who was paid at the rate of $55,000 per season for his half-season work last year, and has been offered the same contract this year.

Others reported in this higher bracket include Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankees, $42,500; Bob Feller, Cleveland, $40,000; Mel Ott, New York Giants, $35,000; Joe Cronin and Ted Williams, Boston Sox; Lou Boudreau, Cleveland, and Dick Wakefield, Tigers, each $25,000, Dixie Walker, Brooklyn, $22,500; and Hal Newhouser, Tigers; Hank Borowy, Chicago Cubs, Red Ruffing, Spud Chandler, Bill Dickey and Joe Gordon, Yankees, each $20,000.

Of these, Ott, Cronin and Boudreau are playing managers, although Cronin may be confined to a pinch hitting role this year. Other pilots, non-active, past the 20-grand figure include Joe McCarthy, Yankees; Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletics; Leo Durocher, Dodgers; Billy Southworth, Boston Braves, and Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati.

Feller's $40,000 for '46 is the highest sum ever paid to a pitcher for one year's work.

Yankees Build Up Farm String Again

New York, Jan. 25—(AP)—After four years of comparative inactivity, the New York Yankees are going back into the farming business on a 14-club scale with nine scouts to ferret out future DiMaggios, Gordons and Ruffings.

The farm system that had dwindled to five clubs during the war has been reorganized on a two-division basis, spreading into new territory at Beaumont in the Texas league and Quincy in the Three-Eye among others.

President Larry MacPhail said the eastern clubs, under Eugene J. Martin, would operate independently of the western unit under the supervision of Frank Lane. In other words there will be no player-swapping in the middle of a hot pennant race between, say, Newark in the International league and Kansas City of the American Association, the top western club.

The western division, with main offices at Kansas City, will include Kansas City, Beaumont, Quincy, Twin Falls, Idaho, in the Pioneer, Joplin, Mo., in the Western Association, and Fond du Lac, Wis., in the Wisconsin State.

If a person learned the names of 25 new insects each day, it would take him more than 60 years to memorize all those which scientists have described and catalogued.

Named Beloit Football Coach

Reporting for duty February 1, James C. "Jimmy" Easterbrook (above), former University of Illinois backfield star, will take over Beloit (Wis.) college's football fortunes. His four-year record as assistant coach at Urbana and East St. Louis high schools and head coach at Mattoon high school includes work with three championship teams. When he takes the helm, he will have a crew of sophomores which, as a freshman squad, notched two victories in six starts. Strong freshman help is expected.

Buckeyes Rated as Top College Team

Ohio State's basketball team is top college aggregation in the nation for the week ending Jan. 21, according to the Dunkel rating system released today. The Buckeyes rank almost two full points above their nearest competitor, Kentucky. Oklahoma A&M, Notre Dame, NYU, Iowa and Illinois are bunched in that order, followed by Cornell, Indiana and Minnesota.

Once again midwestern teams took a major share of the top ratings, placing seven of its quintets in the first ten.

Wright Field continues to rank as the top service team in the nation, topping Philadelphia Naval Base by a comfortable margin. Fort Sheridan holds ninth position, over Parris Island Marines.

Wright Field outranks the Buckeyes in the Midwest ratings, Oklahoma A&M, Notre Dame, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Michigan and Northwestern rounding the first ten in that order.

Important Games on Tap Tonight in Rock River Loop

Two of the three games scheduled for tonight in the Rock River conference will have an immediate effect on the loop standings. The other game, which features Oregon and Mt. Morris, is also an important struggle for both clubs, with Oregon straining to pad the narrow second place margin they now enjoy, and Mt. Morris striving desperately to break into the league's top bracket.

Rochelle journeys to Polo for a battle which will make or break the Rochelle club's chances for second or third place laurels. Polo must win to hold third place and keep alive their chances to pull past Oregon's Hawks into the runner-up spot.

The other encounter features Mt. Carroll and Amboy in the battle of the basement. The two clubs are sharing cellar occupancy at present, each marked with six conference beatings in seven engagements. Their meeting tonight in Mt. Carroll will settle the issue for the present at least. Amboy, which has shown signs of newly found power in the past week, will slightly out-rank a weak Mt Carroll five.

Meanwhile, Morrison leans back and abstains from conference action this weekend. Clearly head and shoulders above the remainder of the league, they still are undefeated in seven starts.

Saturday night Rochelle and Oregon go out of conference circles for games, with Lanark entertaining the Hawks and Harlem visiting Rochelle.

Questions Fail to Alter Man's Claim

Los Angeles, Jan. 24—(AP)—Steafastly maintaining his innocense of any connection with her death, Arthur Eggers was back in the county jail today after a trip to San Bernardino, where he qualifiedly identified the body of a headless, handless woman as that of his wife.

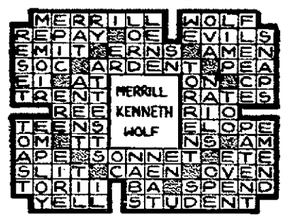

Capt. Gordon Bowers of the sheriff's homicide detail said Eggers, booked on suspicion of murder, will be subjected to further questioning today, although two days of almost continuous grilling failed to alter his claim that he knows nothing of the case beyond the fact that his wife disappeared.

Nip POW Camp Head Will Hang for Crimes

Yokohama, Jan. 25—(AP) — Scholarly Kaichi Hirate, government librarian who became commandant of a prisoner of war camp, was convicted today and sentenced to be hanged for responsibility in the deaths of four British and Dutch soldiers.

Hirate appeared surprised as Col. Oliver E. Trechter, president of the military commission which convicted him, read the verdict. He was convicted of every charge except one—misappropriation of Red Cross supplies.

Brewer Relief Corps met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jennie Livey. The new officers, headed by the president, Mrs. Ruth Hopkins, were in charge of the meeting. Committees for the year were appointed and the time after the meeting was spent in hospital sewing.

Harold Guither, S-1 c of Great Lakes spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Guither.

T/5 Clestal Broer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harm Broer, arrived home Tuesday afternoon from Camp Grant, honorably discharged, after 39 months of army service.

The Red Oak Evangelical Youth Fellowship met on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ioder. The meeting which was conducted by Ruth Baumgartner, opened with group singing. Dean Albrecht read the scripture lesson and Rev. Grimme offered prayer. The lesson, "McCoy of Rust College," was given by Marvin Guither. The social hour was in charge of Dean Albrecht, and refreshments were served by Edith Farmer and Edwardine Fahs, assisted by Mrs. Ioder and Mrs. Grimme.

The Missionary group of the W. S. C. S. of the Walnut Methodist church met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. L. E. Weinreich with 13 members and one guest, Mrs. Lydia Weinreich, present. Mrs. Guy Borop was devotional leader, her theme being church attendance. Mrs. C. M. Knight was in charge of a brief business meeting, and Rev. Weinreich gave the lesson study from the closing chapters of the book, "The Word of His Grace." A social hour and refreshments followed.

Mrs. Minnie Langford returned home Monday from Joliet, where she had been called two weeks ago by the serious illness and death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Smith. Others from Walnut who attended the funeral services were: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gustafson, Donald Langford, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Langford, Mrs. Merrill Langford.

Allen Wallace returned Saturday evening from Des Moines, Iowa, where he had spent several days on business.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schrader and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Larson were in Peoria on Sunday to visit Glenn Tornow, who is still a patient at St. Francis hospital.

Mrs. John Abbott returned home Monday from St. Margaret's hospital, Spring Valley, convalescent from surgery.

Bryant club members were entertained on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. H. Hopkins, whose assistant hostess was Miss Eunice Olinger. The brief business meeting was in charge of Mrs. Lois Watson, who with Mrs. H. E. Grimme, constituted the program committee. Mrs. Grimme opened the program with an article dealing with the history of books. Mrs. Watson gave a review of the book, "Who Walk Alone", by Burgess, and short sketches of the books, "Westward the Women", and "We Like in Alaska". A social time followed and refreshments were served.

Pius Draft Dodger Gets Year in Prison

Chicago, Jan. 25—(AP)—John D. Nelson, 19-year-old member of a religious sect, was under sentence today of a year and a day in federal prison on charges of failure to report for induction.

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe said he had not imposed the usual three-year sentence on the Charleston, Ill., youth because "the fighting war is now over". A jury convicted Nelson after less than an hour of deliberation.

• SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

A People at Worship

Scripture: Exodus, 24-40, especially 28:1; 35:4-9, 20-29

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The Scripture for this lesson in verses 20-29 of the 35th chapter of Exodus is very remarkable considering the times out of which it comes, and is worthy of careful observation of its significant phasing. It relates to crude times, of worship in a tent, for ante-dating the splendor and magnificence of the Temple of Solomon, or the immense grandeur of the Temple of Herod, yet in it is expressed the true spirit of what sincere worship ought to be at any time, and in any place.

Note the phrasing: it tells how "every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing" brought offerings for the work of the tabernacle of the congregation. It was a consecration on the part of all, both men and women, of the best that they had to offer, and of the best that they could do—for they brought not only the dyed stuffs of blue and purple and scarlet, and the things of linen and goats' hair, and fine woods and skins; and the women not only brought their jewelry, but they brought also the work of their hands, the things fashioned in wood and metal by the men, the things woven and spun by the women, the "wise-hearted" women.

Willingness was of the essence of all that they gave, and willingness is at the heart of all true worship. The high level of worship, however, is not all reached in giving, not even in voluntary giving. People have made their sincere and devout sacrifice to idols, bringing their treasures to dumb and lifeless gods of wood and stone; and the things that adorn cathedrals and churches may have little more real significance and spiritual value than the things offered to idols, if there be not intelligent minds and loving hearts associated with the offerings for adornment.

The truest adornment of cathedrals and churches must always be the souls of sincere worshipers, drawn by the cords of love to God and to one another. The worship of the tabernacle was only a beginning, a foundation for the true worship of the heart. It was thus that Paul declared that gifts and even the giving of one's body to be burned, profited nothing if there were not love in the heart; and Jesus defined true worship as consisting not in outward gifts, but in its spiritual content. "God is a spirit, and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth".

But worship in spirit and in truth is not giftless worship. The measure of our inward devotion is often the extent and depth of our outward gifts. Is not this particularly true at the present time, when throughout the world there is such dire need and suffering? If religion at its highest consists of love for God and our fellowmen, its needful expression is in the things that will feed the hungry, clothe the cold and naked, and bring warmth and protection to the homeless and suffering millions.

It is in this large cathedral of God's world that we must with willing spirits and hearts "stirred up" make our offerings ample and effective today. That ancient expression of Jewish worship in the tabernacle in the wilderness was a great and noble outburst of community spirit; and today our community is the whole world, and all humanity.

Guest Pastor

A veteran of four year in the Army, of which 32 months were spent overseas, Ex-Capt. Verne Rieke will address members of the American Lutheran churches in this community in the Immanuel Lutheran church, corner Sixth St. and Highland avenue, on Jan. 28th at 7:30 p. m. He will also show the sound motion picture "TI-WON" which was filmed in New Guinea.

Captain Rieke's appearance is in the interest of the program of Foreign Mission Reconstruction and Development, through which the American Lutheran church expects to make available three-quarters of a million dollars for its missionary fields in New Guinea and India. Twelve other speakers are joining Capt. Rieke in telling this story throughout the nation.

As a member of the Army Air Forces, Capt. Rieke had an opportunity to observe the work of the Lutheran Missions in India and in China. He was able to visit leper colonies, schools for the blind, orphanages and schools for native children. Out of this broad experience of 32 months overseas and first hand experience in the Mission Fields of the church Capt. Rieke will bring a stimulating and informative address.

The following decorations have been received by Capt. Rieke: Bronze Star, Distinguished Unit Citation with Cluster, Asiatic-Pacific Theater Ribbon with 7 battle stars, American Theater Ribbon and Philippine Liberation Ribbon.

A native of Cashmire, Washington, Capt. Rieke will enter Capital University at Columbus, Ohio, at the conclusion of his speaking tour to continue his study of law.
